

QUESTION 10

Which of the following is a characteristic of a strongly correlated system?

- Highly correlated systems are characterized by a high degree of correlation between the variables.
- Highly correlated systems are characterized by a high degree of correlation between the variables.
- Highly correlated systems are characterized by a high degree of correlation between the variables.
- Highly correlated systems are characterized by a high degree of correlation between the variables.
- Highly correlated systems are characterized by a high degree of correlation between the variables.